Schirmmacher pays tribute to the Syrian Orthodox Institute in Salzburg

Guest lecture for scholarship holders of the Konrad-Adenauer-Foundation

(Bonn, 09.10.2018) Thomas Schirmmacher, Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Central Council of Oriental Christians and President of the International Council of the International Society for Human Rights, has, at the request of the Syrian Orthodox Patriarch Ignatius Aphrem II, paid an official visit to the Syrian Orthodox Institute at the University of Salzburg. In an extensive conversation with the Director of the Institute, university professor Dr. Aho Shemunkasho, professor of the history and theology of Syrian Christianity, he asked Schirmmacher mainly for support in the area of the European Union.

Schirmmacher then emphasised the overall importance of the universities Master programme for Syrian Theology for Oriental Christianity in Europe (established in 2015). “I am deeply impressed by what has been achieved here in a short time with little money and a great deal of commitment.” However, the support and financing of the Institute should not be left to Austria alone; the demand should also be placed on Germany and the European Union.

In addition, Schirmmacher, on mediation of the scholarship holders of the Konrad-Adenauer-Foundation, gave a three-hour guest lecture at the Syrian Institute on the worldwide situation of discrimination and persecution of Oriental Christians – not only in the Near and Middle East. During the two-day seminar “The Refugee Crisis from the Perspective of the Oriental Christians”, the 30 participating students also attended a Syrian Orthodox worship service at the Syrian Orthodox College in Beth Suryoye.

Aho Shemunkasho was born in 1969 in Beth Debe, in Tur Abdin, near the ancient city of Nisibis (Turkey). After graduating from high school in Germany, he studied theology
